

DBU Reaffirms Articulation Agreement with Dallas County Community College District

Dallas Baptist University is pleased to announce the re-signing of an articulation agreement with the Dallas County Community College District. The agreement formalizes the academic relationship between DBU and the seven colleges that comprise the DCCCD, allowing students from DCCCD schools to transfer credit hours to DBU in order to obtain their bachelor's degree.

"DBU and the DCCCD have had a wonderful relationship throughout the years," explained DBU Provost Dr. Gail Linam. "This latest agreement sets forth the terms and conditions for students to transfer course credit from DCCCD to DBU in order to further facilitate and improve the transfer process. The agreement ensures the commitment of both institutions to exchange only the most current and accurate information."

"The Dallas County Community College District and Dallas Baptist University have enjoyed a strong partnership throughout the tenure of Dr. Gary Cook," explained Dr. Wright Lassiter, DCCCD Chancellor. "DBU is one of thirty-eight colleges and universities that we have articulation and transfer agreements with, and I am pleased that DBU is also one of twenty-four senior institutions that offers transfer scholarships to our graduates. It is an honor for me to join with Dr. Gary Cook in updating our long-standing agreement and also furthering our cooperative relationship."

Dr. Lassiter has participated in various DBU special events over the years and serves as both a distinguished adjunct professor and a member of the DBU Board of Trustees.

"DBU is especially fortunate to sign this agreement with DCCCD's Chancellor, Dr. Wright Lassiter, who is so highly respected in the field of higher education and a long-time friend of DBU," said Dr. Gary Cook. "We are so grateful to have this relationship with the DCCCD and to be able to assist their students in achieving their academic goals."

The Dallas Baptist University Women's Auxiliary Board recently held its annual Yellow Ribbon Luncheon to kick-off the new school year. Candice Wright, executive director of the WAB, opened the luncheon with a Prayer of Thanksgiving, and Sally Nation, WAB president, greeted those in attendance. Ann Kelley and Phyllis Tresnicky, co-chairs of the luncheon, provided introductions, followed by special greetings from Dr. Gary Cook, DBU president.

The event proved to be especially meaningful as recognition was given to the dedication of the new Orville and Esther Beth Rogers Prayer Ministry office suite, located in Pilgrim Chapel.

Serving along with Ann Kelley and Phyllis Tresnicky on the Yellow Ribbon Luncheon Committee were: Joyce Andres, Kathryn Andres, Allison Arnold, Janet Bracken, Christy Gandy, Leigh Gettman-Allen, Natalie Owens and Betty Rush.
